VOTE AND CRIME
QUIZ; ON TODAY

McDonald Ready to Go Ahead.

Financial arrangements acceptable to Special State's Attorney Charles A. McDonald were made yesterday and the special grand jury investigation of vote fraud charges will begin today. Prosecutor McDonald said that while the financing arrangements for the inquiry were not entirely satisfactory to him yet they were acceptable and he will proceed under the arrangements. It was agreed that the special prosecutor and the grand jury may draw from an appropriation for State's Attorney Crowe, which was originally $10,000, and of which only a few thousand dollars has been expended. Chief Justice Thomas J. Lynch of the Criminal court, who impaled the special grand jury and appointed the special prosecutor, must approve all bills.

Appropriation Gets O. K.
President Anton J. Cermak of the county board discussed the investigation plans in a conference with Special Prosecutor McDonald, State's Attorney Crowe, Attorney James C. O'Brien, who is to be Mr. McDonald's assistant; Attorney Henry A. Dwyer, Cermak's personal attorney, and Commissioner Emmett Whealan, chairman of the county board finance committee. The conclusion was that an appropriation for this purpose is both proper and legal.

Mr. McDonald then announced that he was going ahead with the investigation of the charges made as a result of the Republican primary of April 13. The followup inquiry into the murder of Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin will proceed at the same time.

While the special prosecutor was not yet ready to announce the names of any others selected as his aids, it was learned that he is seeking Patrick Dohle of the United States special intelligence service as his chief investigator.

Terror of Booze Crooks.
As an investigator in the federal probe Roche had struck terror in the hearts of bootleggers and crooked officials. Those interested in the special jury investigation agreed yesterday on the efficiency of the federal agent.

Late last night Mr. McDonald said he had received no answer from Roche who had sought the permission of District Attorney Olson and of his chief, P. Madden, to obtain a leave of absence. At the federal building, however, it was said that Roche would not be permitted to accept.

While no subpoenas were served yesterday, Prosecutor McDonald said he thought he would have no difficulty in getting witnesses before the special jury today if it is decided to begin the hearing of evidence at the session this morning. In that event it is understood that Judge Daniel P. Trude, the defeated Lundin-Deneen candidate for Republicans' nomination for county judge, will be one of the first witnesses.

Seek Basis of Trade Charges.
Judge Trude's charges of vote stealing, miscounting, and intimidation were aired in his petition for a recount which is now pending before Judge M. L. McKinley. The assumption is that the basis of the beginning of the trial will be to ask Judge Trude to sustain the general charges by specific facts and naming of the men who can verify his statements.

Judge Trude's lawyers, Harry Hayes Kelly, president of the Union League club, and Howard P. Castle, and they would file an answer tomorrow to the counter petition of Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage, which was submitted to the executive committee of the Superior Court. Savage's petition alleges that Judge McKinley is prejudiced and would be unfair to him in the recount of the ballots which showed Savage as the victor over Trude by 22,000 votes.

ter, "I do not believe any such legislation would be desirable, even if the legislature could be persuaded to enact it. It is not clear whether the constitutionality of the proposed ordinance has been tested. Its constitutional validity would be extremely doubtful. Moreover, it seems to me that legislation such as that required by this draft is too important to be dealt with as merely a reservation or proviso in a particular contract ordinance between a particular city and a particular street railroad. It is of state-wide importance."

Pearce said he was in some trouble. Mr. Blair continues: "An affirmative vote on the referendum and acquiescence by the legislature in the legislative program, however, would not make the proposed ordinance valid. Before it could become operative it must be approved by resolution or ordinance of the city council. The personnel of the city council will not be the same at that time as it is now, and no one can say what its attitude will be on this question."

Proposes Policy Referendum.

"Under these circumstances, it seems to me that more progress could be made if, instead of submitting to referendum this involved drafting the final enactment of which is so doubtful, questions of public policy as to the proposed legislation were submitted to a vote of the people."

Mr. Blair holds that enabling legislation is a prerequisite to a satisfactory solution of the transit problem. He has suggested that it is necessary legislation in his plan presented to the city before the last session of the general assembly. His plan was shelved without any serious consideration. The legal advisers of Mr. Blair have told him that enabling legislation is imperative before the city council can pass a valid ordinance.

ARGUE BUS FRANCHISE

Arguments take place today in the Illinois Supreme court on the city's suit to require the Chicago Motor Coach company to obtain a franchise to operate its buses on city streets.

Corporation Counsel Busch, with two of his assistants, C. M. Doty and James Coughlin, left for Springfield last night to argue the case. The city won its suit in the Circuit court before Judge Friend and it went to the Supreme court on an appeal by the bus company.

Although the busses are operated largely by drivers controlled by the park system, considerable mileage of city streets also is used. If the city wins its case Mr. Busch yesterday pointed out how the bus company will be unable to do any dogging by using park system thoroughfares only. The illustration he cited was the link between the Michigan boulevard bridge and Randolph street, which is controlled by the city and for which the city might require a franchise on which to operate.

COUNCIL BODY TO START DRIVE FOR ELECTRIC TRAINS

Arvey Names 7 Aldermen on Subcommittee.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Chairman Jacob M. Arvey of the council judiciary committee announced yesterday the appointment of a subcommittee on the electrification of steam railroad terminals in Chicago. The personnel of the subcommittee, together with the ward each alderman represents, is as follows:

Ward—
1.—Jacob M. Arvey.
2.—Charles Seither Eaton.
3.—Donald S. McKinlay.
4.—B. A. Cronson.
5.—John Nelson.
6.—Robert E. Barbee.
7.—George Self.

I believe, the mayor believes, and many private citizens believe that it is opportune to electrify several of the railroad terminals in Chicago," Ald. Arvey said. "To those acquainted with the city council, the selection of the membership of this subcommittee indicates a desire to get results.

All Willing to Work.

"But I have not been satisfied with that alone. I have talked with every member appointed to ascertain whether he is willing to work on this subject, if that is deemed an advisable course. Each man selected has promised me that he will work faithfully and diligently all summer, if necessary, to obtain remedial action."

"There is nothing to be given out as to what we will accomplish. Frederick Rex, municipal reference librarian, has been collecting printed information and data for some time. I have given sufficient attention to the frag-

SEWER DIGGERS TO STRIKE ON MANY CITY JOBS

Peter Fosco, business agent of the Sewer and Tunnel Miners' union, announced last night that he will call a strike tomorrow morning on several county and city projects which are being done by private contractors who refused to give wage increases. The work done directly by the city is paid at the same wages paid by private contractors. The old scale of the sewer and tunnel miners ranged from $7.50 cents an hour to $1.20 an hour, the new one from 95 cents an hour to $1.25 an hour.

LONDON FORGES HOT CHALLENGE OF MOSCOW ACTS

$2,000,000 Sent to Foster English Rebellion.

MOSCOW, June 9.—Worse than ever is the description given today both by the owners and miners of the coal strike situation before the two executives broke up and scattered to the country and to the banks of the Moskva river yesterday. The owners say the men talk only of reorganization of the mines and refuse to discuss lower wages and longer hours, while the men say the owners only demand wage cuts and longer working days, laughingly at any suggestion of reorganization. The situation now seems to be up to the government.

2,720,000 Out of Work.

LONDON, June 9.—[U. N.]—Urged on by a nation-wide appeal for action, the British government is believed to be ready to state its position to the world regarding alleged payments from Soviet Russia to striking English coal miners.

Following the statement of the Earl of Pembroke, secretary of state for India, that the Soviet, and not the Russian miners, had paid out $2,000,000 to the striking miners of England, the opinion is expressed that Prime Minister Baldwin will call the cabinet into extraordinary session tomorrow or Friday to formulate the government's official stand on the issue.

Pointing to the statement of A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' students to its police force, yesterday conferred the position of city dog catcher upon D. C. Ward, law student, member of the Acacia fraternity.

MOSCOW, June 9.—[U. N.]—Declaring that "it is necessary to organize broad proletarian masses around the English miners' strike," the Communist International has published a resolution instructing the British Communist party to support the striking English miners.

The resolution asks that anti-strike-breaking bands be organized and that the miners support the slogan "Nationalization of the mines without compensation."

SCHOOL GIRL 14, VANISHES.

Chicago police last night were asked to search for a girl, 14, who disappeared yesterday. Mrs. Marie Dahl, 33 years old, toppled forward into a tub of water and was found unconscious. She had been ill for two years and had brought a neighbor, who discovered her.

PLEA TO ENJOIN BREACH OF MINE WAGE PACT FAILS

Morgantown, W. Va., June 8.—(AP)—The aid of a state circuit court injunction today in its effort to enforce provisions of the Jacksonville wage agreement resumed operations on a non-union basis at reduced wages.

Judge Lasselle said the Baltimore ratification between the union and the Monongahela Coal Co. was so vague it was difficult to understand. Holding that the agreement could not bind the defendants, he pointed out that although he had little doubt that some of the signers for the operators were connected with the companies named, there was nothing from which he could take judicial notice of that fact.

The question of employing nonunion men brought the statement from the court that a contract covering the question, if not too broad, could be made, provided it could be carried out.

PLAN COAL MINE MERGER.

Merger of forty-one coal companies in Illinois and Indiana was seen yesterday in the British parliament that he came to England if he promised to try to merge the British Free State.

"It seems to me," he added, "we should post notice in every mine to advise that British visas are being issued to miners who do not deserve them. I have referred my case to the department."

Appeal to Supreme Court.

Counsel for the union said an appeal would be taken to the state Supreme court "as soon as we can go into the courts, as we have many times been invited to do, and test the validity of these contracts."

The petition for the injunction, the first of its kind in the history of the miners' union, asked also that the defendant companies be restrained from employing other than union miners.

The union contended the companies signed the wage agreement, but re-

RUSSELL TO SUE BRITAIN FOR $10 BECAUSE BARRED

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

PARIS, June 9.—Charles Edward Russell, American Socialist writer, formerly of Chicago, who was refused permission to land in England because of his political views, has filed a suit against the British government for $10 "fraudulently" obtained for his passport visa, as well as to stipulate suit for damages.

He dispatched a hot note tonight to Sir William Joynson-Hicks, telling down the home secretary's statement in the British parliament that he came to England if he promised to try to merge the British Free State.

"It seems to me," he added, "we should post notice in every mine to advise that British visas are being issued to miners who do not deserve them. I have referred my case to the department."

Norwegian 6 Week Strike Costing $4,400,000, Ends

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

OSLO, June 9.—A six weeks' strike of miners and workers in other industries, totaling 30,000 workers, ended today after the employers and workers approved a general mediator's suggestion of a 15 per cent cut in wages. The strike cost about 20,000,000 kroner ($4,400,000) in lost wages.

LEITER DEFENDS THE MILLIONAIRE AS BUSIEST MAN

Must Be an Expert Among Experts, He Says.

A brief in defense of the American millionaire was read yesterday before Superior Judge Denis E. Sullivan. His evidence was offered in defense of charges brought against him by his sister, the countess of Suffolk, who seeks a general annulment of the $10,000,000 Leiter estate.

Not the narrow-minded money man that he has sometimes been described, but a man of widest culture and of vast knowledge the present day capitalist must be of necessity, Leiter testified.

To back up his assertion that he did not mismanage the estate either willfully or carelessly, Leiter gave a hint of the many and varied pursuits that must be followed in managing a fortune of millions. The successful millionaire is not a habitué, his testimony indicated. Because his wealth reaches into so many fields, he must be an expert among experts, he able to talk as freely with college professors as with coal miners.

A Millionaire's Daily Routine.

The daily program of the man of wealth, the witness said, calls on him to give decisions in matters involving an expert knowledge of ranching, farming, irrigation projects, coal mining, railroading, store keeping, banking, employment of labor, architecture, department store management, real estate.

He must daily interview and speak on an equal plane with lawyers, bankers, labor leaders, farmers, lumbermen, builders, real estate dealers, and brokers.

Twelve hours constitutes his usual business day, Leiter declared. Occasionally his family gets a glimpse of him or he squeezes out an hour or two for relaxation and amusement.

Tells of Chicago Deeds.

Much of yesterday was spent by Leiter in telling of his ownership of the Chicago properties of the estate. Presently he narrated his difficulties on the ranches in Wyoming and the coal mines in Franklin county, Ill. He will probably finish his testimony under direct examination today and cross-examination will be taken by the countess' lawyers.

The extent of the Leiter estate in the city was shown when the witness, in response to questions by his attorney, Henry R. Platt, described a score of buildings and tracts of land owned. It was a memory test for Leiter.

How Room Pinched Estate.

Explaining why little income is derived from these properties, Leiter told of the building boom in Chicago. Hundreds of modern buildings sprang up, making it increasingly difficult to find tenants for the estate buildings which were antiquated in construction.

He told of his varied difficulties in attempting to make an asset of the building at Van Buren and State street, now occupied by the Leiter stores.

"It would have been suicide," Leiter declared, "to leave the building unoccupied. It might have become hoarded, as did a similar building in Cin-

CURZON'S WILL IS INTERPRETED BY ENGLISH COURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—Lady Curzon, widow of the late British Kedleston, won a friendly suit in the highest court of England against her as executrix of Lord Curzon's will, for the interpretation of several clauses.

The will, written in his own hand by Lord Curzon a few days before his death, is a document of great length and detail. The plaintiff was the Hon. Frank Naylor, of Chelmsford, brother of Lord Curzon, and joined with Lady Curzon as defendant was Lord Scarbrough, heir to the title and a life tenant of the entailed estates.

Three questions were propounded:

Whether a certain bequest to Lady Curzon under the will was an absolute or a residuary estate; whether the residuary estate was bequeathed absolutely to Lady Curzon or only for life, reverting on her death to the Kedleston estate, and whether the Kedleston estate is liable for carrying out the restoration and repair of Kedleston castle.

COOLIDGE ASKS
$350,000 ROOF
FOR WHITE HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—President Coolidge will occupy a temporary White House during the summer of 1927 while a new roof is placed on the executive mansion, which has been refused to foot the bills.

This was made known today when Director of the Budget Lord requested the house to grant an immediate appropriation of $275,000, all but $25,000 of which is to be used in constructing a new roof, attic and ceiling for the second floor. The $25,000 is to be placed at the disposal of the President to pay rent on temporary quarters.

"Several years ago," says Gen. Lord in his letter, "a thorough investigation of the structural condition of the executive mansion revealed that the roof was in such a dangerous condition that radical reconstruction was considered necessary."

"The urgency of these repairs has so manifested itself since the transmission of the 1927 budget that the approval of the estimate as a supple-

CHANCE OF FARM BILL ACTION IN SENATE DIMMER

Corn Belt, South, and Administration Differ.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special]—Developments today made the passage of adequate farm relief legislation at this session of congress a remote possibility.

The corn belt senators and the cotton states senators were unable to reach an agreement on a surplus control measure.

The administration gave no indication of willingness to make any concessions to the western demands for price stabilization legislation.

If the corn belt and the administration could get together a bill could be passed. If the corn belt and the cotton states could agree on a bill the legislation could be put through congress despite administration opposition, although President Coolidge has vetoed it.

One Chance in Two.

But unless the corn belt can get the help of either the administration or the south its hope of getting the sort of farm relief legislation it is demanding will be slimming.

A canvass of sentiment in the senate today disclosed forty-four prospective votes for the pending bill to raise the prices of farm products through control of the surplus and assessment of the cost of the marketing operations on production in the form of an equalization fee. This support, which is divided about equally between Republicans and Democrats, is five short of a majority of the senate.

The Difficulty in the South.

Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.] had a talk with Senator Simmons [Dem., N. J.] and other southern senators in an effort to find a basis for compromise.

The southerners admitted they could not support the measure if the equalization fee was to be made applicable to cotton at once. Their position is that while an equalization fund to withhold cotton surplus from the market and procure a more orderly marketing undoubtedly would stabilize the price on a higher level, the cotton planters, not understanding the proposition, would rise in rebellion against the feed.

The southerners said that they would support the bill if the application of the equalization fee to cotton were deferred two years and made optional then and if $75,000,000 of the proposed $150,000,000 revolving fund were allocated to the cotton marketing operations.

Senator Watson declared this price of southern support was impossible. He declined to agree to an exemption of cotton from the equalization fee for two years, but he agreed to have cotton be a discrimination against corn, wheat, and other products. He called the $75,000,000 proposal a subsidy.

Farm leaders have been looking for twenty-four hours for some sign that the administration is weakening in its resistance to the corn belt demands as a result of the Iowa primary. They have not been rewarded with any encouragement up to date, but they have submitted the surplus control plan to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for an opinion as to its economic soundness. If Mr. Mellon thinks it is sound economically the President, it is hoped, may be won over.

Information from the White House, however, is to the effect that the President still flatly opposed to the corn belt bill. As far as the Iowa primary is concerned, the President, it is understood, does not share the view of Cummings as indicative of resentment at the administration on farm relief.

In the senate Senator Fess [Rep., O.] continued his attack on the surplus control bill.

"The danger is that it puts no limit

"I TOLD YOU TWICE BEFORE TO STAY OUT! I HOPE I'M MAKING MYSELF CLEAR THIS TIME!"

have submitted the surplus control plan to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon for an opinion as to its economic soundness. If Mr. Mellon thinks it is sound economically the President, it is hoped, may be won over.

GUARD M'ERLANE AFTER THREATS TO KILL HIMSELF

Frank McErlane, bootlegger and arrested several times by the police in connection with booze murders and who is now awaiting action of extradition proceedings to Indiana in connection with the murder of Attorney Theodore Fancher, under a special guard in the jail because of his threats and actions during the past few weeks, was learned yesterday.

The wedding was evidently a surprise to the bride's family, her brother Clement Studebaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Studebaker II, 3314 Sheridan road, and socially prominent both here and in New York, was married there Tuesday to James Masters Petricolas, Chicago broker, it was learned yesterday.

The wedding was evidently a surprise to the bride's family, her brother Clement Studebaker III, declaring last night he "knew nothing about it."

Mr. Petricolas is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Petricolas of Bixby, Okla., and is now associated with George P. Burr & Co., brokerage house, here. Romance developed between the two when the bridegroom met Miss Studebaker at South Bend, Ind., while she was visiting her cousin, Woodrow Studebaker. It was the same time ago, it was reported, the bride is a graduate of Miss Finch's school in New York and the groom is a Yale alumnus.

Judge John P. McGroarty will probably go to Michigan City, Ind., prison Friday to take a deposition from John O'Reilly, who accuses McErlane of being implicated in the Fancher murder. The judge then will decide if McErlane should be liberated or sent to Valparaiso for trial.

YOUNG EXPERT TELLS VETERANS USES OF COAL

Delegates attending the annual convention of the National Coal association yesterday listened for an hour while Russell B. Cooper, a 22 year old graduate of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, explained how he obtained thirty-one distillates from a ton of coal with still retaining almost a ton of coke for fuel.

Cooper is one of the youngest men in the country engaged in research in thermo-chemical engineering problems and has achieved results which members of the convention say develop important new methods in coal utilization.

Through a process known as "low temperature distillation," Cooper, it was said, has been successful in wringing from a mere ton of coal one hundred and ten pounds of resin, one hundred and ten pounds of wax, eight gallons of medium oils, two of waxes, suitable for motor fuel, and two gallons of light oil, recovered from coal gas.

CONTRACTS LET FOR 2 LINCOLN PARK SUBWAYS

Contracts for two pedestrian subways under Stockton drive, the western driveway in Lincoln park, one at Belden avenue and the other at Center street, were let yesterday by the Lincoln park board. The Commonwealth Improvement company, the successful bidders, expects to complete the work in from six to eight weeks. The cost will be $45,000.

Construction of the underground passages will provide relief for the thousands of visitors to the park and permit automobile traffic to use the boulevard without interruption.

Requests to use the unimproved section of Lincoln park north of Belden avenue were denied by the Elks in connection with a huge pageant in connection with the Elks' national convention, which will open here July 12, were presented.

RECORD OF VALOR TO STOP FIRING SQUAD FOR YANK

French Officer Offers to Defend Doty.

DAMASCUS, Syria, June 9.—(UPI)—Two citations in army orders and his splendid record as a soldier before the enemy are looked upon confidently to save the life of Bennett J. Doty of Memphis, Tenn., who enlisted under the name of Gilbert Clare and is now being held on charges of desertion from the French foreign legion in Syria.

That is the opinion expressed by a high ranking officer of the general staff today.

"It is extremely improbable that Doty will be even condemned to death," said the officer, who received the correspondence in the absence of the French Foreign Minister, Gen. Gamelin. "Even a soldier of proven valor, like Doty, might have yielded to homesickness," the officer added. The specific charge entered against Doty in the official document is: "Abandoning his post before armed rebels."

French Officer to Defend Him.

The American consul here, James H. Keeley Jr., has obtained services of a French officer for Doty's defense before the court martial. The officer, impressed with the American's record for courage in face of the enemy on all occasions, undertook voluntarily to defend him.

The charges, if proved, entail the death penalty, but it is understood the extreme penalty will not be demanded by the military judicial officials now engaged in the inquiry. They will present their report about June 15.

Doty's Rights Safeguarded.

The French general staff has taken action to some of the reports emanating from Egypt and cabled to the United States.

"You can tell American readers that all interests and rights of Doty will be safeguarded," an officer of the general staff said. "Those articles, representing Doty already has been sentenced summarily to be executed, are inspired in bad faith. That is how we are depicted abroad and yet you wonder at our application of censorship."

The French army in Syria, which is the only army in the entire world operating 1,750 miles from its base, is also taking steps to vindicate the accusations from the minister of war and the president of the republic at Paris before

PINCHOT WITNESS IN QUAKER SLUSH FUND HEARING

Campaign Cost $190,000,

Senators Told.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special]—Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is estimated approximately $160,000 in an unsuccessful attempt to nominate Senator George Wharton Pepper [Rep., Pa.] and Representative V. W. S. Vare [Rep., Pa.] out of the Republican nomination for United States senator.

This amount, the governor told a Senate committee investigating reports of a $50,000 slush fund in the Pennsylvania campaign, was the expenditure of his state campaign committee alone and does not include what was used by local or county organizations in his behalf.

Pinchot's Action Aids Doty.

Washington, D. C., June 9.—(AP)—Reporting on instructions given by Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg in behalf of Bennett J. Doty, Major General Thomas Ambrose Herrick in Paris cable assurance from the French foreign office today the circumstances attending Doty's arrest on charges of desertion from the French foreign legion in Syria would be "examined in a benevolent manner."

Acting Minister of Foreign Affairs Philippe Berthelot informed Mr. Herrick that under no circumstances would an execution, if ordered, take place without express authorization of the foreign office.

Put Limit at $190,000.

A few minutes later P. S. Stahlnecker, Gov. Pinchot's secretary and the secretary treasurer of the Pinchot state campaign committee, testified that while the reports of the county organizations, which were not filed as yet, it is unlikely that they raised or spent more than $30,000 in addition to the money given them by the state committee and that the total of the Pinchot campaign expenditure would not run far beyond $190,000. Mr. Stahlnecker also said he had received reports that the Pepper budget had been set at $160,000 for use in western Pennsylvania.

Included in the $160,000 cited by the governor was $43,767 contributed to the war chest by the governor himself; $119,324 collected by the state committee, and the Pinchot committee in Pittsburgh had $5,885 for its operations. It was testified.

Present in the hearing room while Gov. Pinchot was being examined was Representative Vare, who won the nomination, and who will himself be a witness before the committee in a few days.

The Advertisement

To the left—a full page in the Chicago Tribune—appeared on June 4, 1925, a year ago. At that time no definite date had been set for completion of the I. C. Electrification program. Now we know that the new high-speed service will be a reality within a few weeks. You still have a chance to profit by "Vision," as others did a year ago.

IVANHOE - CHICAGO'S SUPER-SUBURB - HAS BEEN A GREAT SUCCESS!

UNUSUAL success is not accidental. Nowhere in the world is there greater evidence of the possibilities of achievement than in Chicago—the world's wonder city. Chicago would never have grown to its present importance if it were not for the vision and foresight of its intrepid pioneers. And that combination of vision and foresight, added to determination, has made of Chicago a city far greater and finer than its founders ever dreamed of.

So with Ivanhoe. Just a year ago we had a vision—of a charming new home community on the Illinois Central, where people might live in clean, safe, desirable environment and still have all conveniences and comforts of the city.

That vision was backed with energy, industry, courage, money and action. The result is a development that even surpasses today our dreams of a year ago. Within the year, a tract of about 500 acres has been converted as if by magic into a substantial, complete, charming home community; and many people are now living in their new homes and apartments, with all the highest grade of improvements installed.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE AT IVANHOE IN ONE YEAR

"More Than a Million Dollars Expended on Improvements"

We spent a fortune on improvements in Ivanhoe, in order to make it comparable with Chicago's best home communities. We knew the South Side's necessity; viz.: a Super-Suburb, and set about—one year ago—making Ivanhoe just that, regardless of expense.

The Improvements Include:

25,000 feet of concrete streets,
60,000 feet of cement sidewalks,
40,000 feet of sewers,
35,000 feet of water mains,
4,000 shade trees,
40 acres of community parks and children's playgrounds,
Ornamental street lights,
Gas, electricity, and telephone.

Zoning and Restrictions Have Helped to Make Ivanhoe a Superior Suburb

It was "vision" seasoned with judgment gained from wide experience in real estate operations, which governed our decision to zone Ivanhoe and place upon it important restrictions. Both have insured to investors a high class of development and a degree of permanence which do not always feature subdivisions.

Big Building Program Enhanced Values

Many bungalows and apartments have been built. Many more are in course of construction or are planned. Families already are living in Ivanhoe, which, only a year ago was just a tract of land. Two large contractors are actively engaged in helping supply the demand for homes. Another contractor has started a construction program of 60 new single residences and apartment buildings. It is easy to see how such activity has caused property values to rise in a few months.

Ivanhoe is 5 years ahead of the usual subdivision because of the development work, the building activity and the anticipated electrification of the Illinois Central Railway.

At Ivanhoe, forty acres have been permanently reserved for children's playgrounds and community parks.

Now Comes Another Important Announcement that Will Interest Homeseekers, Builders, and Investors

A New Development on the Electrified I. C. Ry.

Our newest undertaking will be publicly announced very soon. This is a large development on the electrified Illinois Central—one-half hour from the Loop. It will be fully improved and developed on the same high scale as was Ivanhoe. Investors here will have our whole-hearted co-operation in helping them make money, because our business is established on the basis of service. We believe the money-making opportunities in our new project are even greater than they were in Ivanhoe a year ago. Those who are familiar with Chicago real estate and have learned how to make money in it will appreciate fully the possibilities which our newest development offers. Get advance information of this new offering before the newspaper announcement is printed. You will not obligate yourself in any way and we believe you will be greatly interested. ## AN ATTACK ON AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION.

The McFadden-Pepper branch banking bill, which is scheduled for final consideration before congress adjourns, threatens an essentially American institution, the community bank. It is our hope, and we have been assured that ours expresses the major sentiment of the middle west, that the bill will fall by passage.

American growth and prosperity owe a great debt to the community bank. It was the community bank which financed the forward movement of the frontier. It was the community bank which shared the hardships of infant industry and the struggles of fledgling business. It is right that the community bank should share in the success which it has helped to build and not be robbed of it by a system of absentee landlordism carried into the financial world.

No branch bank, mere agency of a distant, disinterested central power, can perform the financial services the community bank is called on to fulfill. Community banking is banking oftentimes on character. No branch bank dominated by absent directors whose main interest is in their own financial welfare can assay character as can the community bank presided over by men whose interests are identical with those of the community they serve.

One of the chief arguments in favor of branch banking is that it frees local banking stability from the uncertainty of local conditions. The broader foundation of geographic distribution levels and averages the chances of failure. The local disaster which might wreck a community bank leaves the branch bank, with the capital of its whole parent system behind it, unscathed. Such an argument might have applied before the creation of the federal reserve system. It no longer applies, for the federal reserve system does what the branch banking system is supposed to do, and it does it better. It does away with private monopoly of capital and credit. Instead of placing a great private controlling power in charge of credit in time of emergency, it gives the control to a disinterested agency which diverts the natural flow of funds and extends unusual credit, not for its own interests but in behalf of the member banks and their customers.

The community bank is an expression of the traditional American principle of local autonomy. The McFadden-Pepper bill attacks that principle. Branch banking must lead inevitably to the ultimate control of the nation's finances by a few octopus institutions.

Contemplation of such an eventuality turns middle western sentiment solidly against the McFadden-Pepper bill. Evidences of the time point to the middle west as the asylum of what little desire for local self-government remains in a country which permits itself to be increasingly dominated by federal bureaucracy.

It is easy to understand why the east wants branch banking. Branch banking is the European system. It comes naturally to a section of the country dominated by an inferiority complex which looks to the old world for its precedents. Once again it narrows down to a choice between the theories of nationalism as developed and as fought for in the United States and of internationalism.

Congress may take its choice. We assure it, however, that we speak with the voice of the middle west in trusting that it will remain true to an American financial system founded on American principles and traditions.

FRENCH BREAD, FRENCH SOLDIERS AND THE FRANC.

Perhaps it is because foreign critics of America are right and this nation is far too commercially minded, but one cannot help viewing in some amazement the latest frantic lengths to which, it is reported, the French government is about to resort in order to stabilize the franc. To the American mind the idea of adulterating wheat flour with barley and then rationing out the ensuing bread seems a very crass fashion of going about the business of restoring financial credit.

To place a nation on short rations, when what the nation needs is increased productivity, appears, on this side of the Atlantic, an illogical measure.

Bread was rationed and adulterated during the war, of course, and it may be argued that France is again at war, fighting the battle for economic existence. But, in the war, France was also sending men to the front, into the trenches. Her soldiers were attacking the enemy. In the present struggle there is no such frontal attack being made. There is, on the contrary, an enormous amount of sidestepping and evasion.

No sentiment has as yet made itself felt in favor of facing the issue squarely, coming out in the open with all the red ink entries in the ledger, and setting about in a truly businesslike fashion to dig down, pay up, and get a fresh start. That, we are bold enough to believe, would be the way of doing things in this country where, it is charged, the adding machine is made an idol of worship.

While its government contemplates putting the country on short bread rations and cutting down on imports, France is maintaining two large armies in the field, one in Morocco, the other in Syria. She must believe there is something to gain in such an attempt at conquest and colonial expansion.

Perhaps there is, but Americans, with their criticized commercial training, know that sound business theory does not recommend expansion at a time when the parent company is threatened with bankruptcy. At such a time the thing to do is to cut overhead and to turn, as France might be sending her soldiers back to the farms, consumers into producers.

PROHIBITION AND RELIGIOUS BIGOTRY.

The Supreme court of Nebraska has just upheld a sentence of forty days in bread and water imposed by a trial judge upon four men for selling liquor at a country dance, a first offense. The attorney general's office thought the sentence excessive, but not the learned court, whose justice seems to be tempered by the spirit of the Anti-Saloon league or the Ku Klux Klan rather than that of American judicial tradition.

What is significant is that with this sentence prohibition reverts openly to torture. Bread and water has been justified as an extreme resort in prison discipline, to be used cautiously upon incorrigibles. But this case is not one of prison resort, or necessary discipline of prisoners. It is one of a court sentence, a form of punishment, like a sentence to the whip. There can be no question that prohibition fanaticism has no inhibitions as to any offender against prohibition or, for that matter, any opponent of prohibition. It is for excessive punishment for all scofflaws which have no rights the prohibition zealot respects. Bread and water, starvation, the whip, the stocks, the ducking stool, or modern devices of the same nature are all not merely possibilities but probabilities where the ethics of the league and the Klan are approved or condoned by a community and the judges and prosecutors it elects.

If any reader thinks this assertion is exaggerated, he had better read the defense of the Indiana Anti-Saloon boss to the charge of contempt. This boss, his attorney says, reasoned that "the one who was guilty of crime was an outlaw and was therefore not entitled to the protection of constitutional guarantees."

The meaning of prohibition fanaticism is also illustrated in the Indiana case in the phrasing of the attack upon the judges, Vanorman and Wiloughby.

"What should Christians do when politicians nominate wets for office?"

Other words, if you are not a dry you are not a Christian. If you break a dry law or are charged with it you lose all the protection the constitution set up against the excessives of government.

Prohibition enforcement is the offspring of religious bigotry. It is supported by many who do not suspect its nature and approve it on economic or social grounds, but the force which devised Volstead and the state statutes of Indiana and other dry states is a throwback to the evil days of religious persecution.

We do not fear that the American people will turn back to the cruelties of the dark ages, but the organized fanaticism which directs the Anti-Saloon league and fathered the dry enforcement laws, if they were allowed to follow its own conception of right, would have us there in due time.

The liquor problem cannot be dealt with intelligently while religious bigotry dictates policy and legislation and bullies lawmakers, executives, and judges.

DEVER.

The Municipal Voters' league has issued its first bulletin in anticipation of the aldermanic election to be held next spring. The league says the city council has done good work in spite of the fact that the aldermen, by and large, are more too well qualified for office. The report contains a list of the accomplishments of the city government during the Dever administration and the list is an impressive one.

The straightening of the river, which the city has been seeking to accomplish since 1909, is now about to become a reality. The south side terminal development is also nearer realization. An attack is being made upon the problems of traffic congestion.

Water meters, the centennial exposition, the Santa Fe and Calumet ordinances, hollie toll, sound finance, are listed as among the administration's accomplishments. The council is again at work on the traction problem and the outlook is for success.

VALUE OF VITAMINS.

LADY in the fine poultry business owned a hen with a record for egg laying in a single year. She expected to make a killing selling eggs from this hen at a fancy price. The chickens from a record layer sell record layers. Here was a regular Mulberry seller.

None of the eggs from this hen would hatch. As soon as she found this out she withdrew the eggs from the market. And so, Mulberry Sellers again true to form unless the original Mulberry sold as long as buyers came.

This is only an unusual experience. Record making horses, cows, hogs and poultry have a way of having no progeny or, if they have any, they are weaklings. For that matter, record making humans have poor record for progeny. While Presidents have not had an excessive supply of brains, the record shows that they have had more brains than their descendants.

But here comes a remedy. She should know that if she will put her hen for a few minutes a day in the light of a quartz lamp she will get enough E will not hatch.

We do not know as much about these vitamins as we should, but we do know that they are closely connected with light. This is especially true of D and E. If the animal gets plenty of light he can along with only a small amount of sun grown and sun cured food. But he gets a deficient amount of light the need for an increased amount of light treatment of food is great.

Sunlight is less effective than quartz mercury lamp light. Twenty-eight days of good sunlight was no better than thirty minutes of light from a quartz mercury lamp.

Breeding females, including milk giving cows and egg laying hens, and growing young animals require more light than do adult males.

Exposure of laying hens to quartz mercury lamps 10 to 20 minutes a day may cause egg production to increase three or four times. This is due to the fact that the young chickens to escape the weakness and rickets. Exposure of milking cows in the same way will cause them to give more milk, have more and better calves, and to escape tuberculosis, as well as contagious abortion and sterility.

And the light that is good for cows and chickens is good for people.

INDIANA SCANDAL HITS AT HIGH-UPS IN DRY CIRCLES

Vincennes Case Watched with Interest.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Vincennes, Ind., June 9.—(Special.)—Prohibition enforcement scandals which may hit high in political and anti-saloon league circles are predicted for the trial of Floyd L. Young, former prosecutor of this county, which is scheduled to start June 22 in the Terre Haute federal court.

U.S. State District Attorney Albert M. Ward of Indianapolis is going to Terre Haute to handle the case personally. Evidence which is the culmination of two years' work by federal sleuths in Knox county will be presented.

Indicted Last Month.

Young formerly was high in the regard of the churches and the Anti-Saloon league. He associated with his attorney in the last year now under charge of contempt of the State Supreme court. He was indicted last month with twenty-five others for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

It is alleged that Young accepted bribes to minimize or quash bootlegger cases.

Roy Robinson, lawyer of Vincennes, who is said to have carried money from bootlegger to official, has pleaded guilty and is expected to be an important government witness.

Sheriff Also Indicted.

Roy Chambers, sheriff of this county, and Harvey Smith, deputy sheriff, are two of the others under indictment with Young.

The trouble started about two years ago, when the citizens of this county became aroused over the activities of bootleggers, the menace to youth in roadside houses and the peculiar actions of enforcement officials.

The case of the state against Moody Jones, called the meanest bootlegger in the county, furnished an instance of the situation. He was arrested April 3, 1924, on complaint of Prosecutor Young, taken before Judge John M. Grayson of the City court, and fined $250 and given six months on the state penal farm.

Case of Moody Jones.

An appeal was taken on April 12, and at that time Young asked that the bond be raised to $2,500. On April 14, however, Young and Miles asked that the court compromise the case with a $100 fine, which caused a big row and started the federal inquiry.

A long list of cases dismissed by the prosecutor or minimized as to penalty.

on his motion was found on the record.

At that time a committee of ten, headed by an enthusiastic minister, was functioning in spurring up activity against the bootleggers. Miles, as the league representative, made speeches along this line at mass meetings. Funds were raised to get evidence, while the city's budget was almost exhausted, while in cases that had not been pushed. It was a great shock to his league backers when Young was indicted, and his testimony is awaited with deep interest in many quarters.

CANADA WATCHES TARIFF STATUS WITH U.S. TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ont., June 9.—Notice was given in the Canadian commons today of a pending bill of $12,000,000 to the Montreal harbor commissioners for harbor extension.

When western Canada legislators complained today of the "dumping" of American strawberries, George Bolvin, customs minister, said the department had sent a man to the United States to investigate. If "dumping" is proven, recent strawberries will have to bear "dumping" clause imports.

DR. THOS. RUSSELL TAKES DEVER'S NOTE TO ENGLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 9.—Dr. Thomas Russell, Chicago author, call at the Tinsbury bureau here today, having arrived in England Saturday for a visit to the country of his birth. Part of his stay in England will be as guest of Sir Philip Piddich, his boyhood chum, who will accompany him to their joint birthday, Plymouth, on June 25. Piddich is president of the town of Plymouth and a letter from Mayor Dever at a civic banquet in Plymouth. On June 22 he will be the guest of honor of the English Speaking union at London. After a stay in England he will visit Paris and Rome, where he expects to speak in behalf of a clean language movement.

a RIBBON of HONOR

You will find, in our finest French chiffon stockings, a tiny ribbon. On it, in golden letters, is inscribed:

"Guaranteed to be made on the little machines at Ganges."

It is, of course, a ribbon of honor, but something of a disillusionment as well. For it is difficult to picture any but fairy fingers weaving hosiery so unbelievably sheer, so superlatively fine.

These inimitable stockings, with open clocks, sell for $10.50 and $15.00 a pair. The Queen Victoria Fine, a 48-gauge domestic stocking of comparable excellence, is $6.65.

lies in its associations. An old tankard revives the days of English leisure and unruffled calm, of Shakespeare, Marlowe, Doctor Johnson, Boswell, and a host of other bon vivants.

A piece of this rare pewter brings into your home a quiet note of the unflurried life of that period. It suggests roast beef and brown October ale, roses and hedgehogs, the calm of Merrie England—the roistering, swashbuckling taverns and inns of town and countryside.

"Love Me Less or Love Me More"

Certain it is that today we are out of favor with Europe—and no dislike is so difficult to cure as an unreasonable and unreasoning one. What can one say to a lady who merely reiterates, "I no longer love you"?

Patience—and good will, and good sense are the only weapons that can serve us. And how skillfully President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg are employing them is outlined in Richard Washburn Child's salient article, "Patience Our Policy," in The Saturday Evening Post, now on sale, five cents.

Imagine if you can a great opera star who loathed her own singing, and a great music critic who hated music. Imagine a background of romantic mystery for the lady—hints of European intrigue, shadowy castles

Then toss lady and critic into a tiny New England village—and watch the fireworks.

LEAGUE DODGES PUBLIC ROW ON LARGER COUNCIL

Will Try Diplomacy on Spain and Brazil.

FENG IN BERLIN; SEEKS ARMS FOR CHINESE TROOPS

See Hand of Russia in General's Visit.
BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BERLIN, June 9.—A secret session of the league council this afternoon took steps which the leaders hope will result in a solution of the row over permanent seats in the council. It was decided to authorize Señor Gunnal of Uruguay, president of the council, after consulting with all the members of the league, to convene a special council before the September assembly, if necessary, to discuss permanent seats with governments that her admission to the league will be unopposed. M. Motta, president of the reorganization commission, was authorized to reassemble his committee and to make recommendations as to further permanent seats if that step is found desirable.

The council decided on this plan to avoid a public discussion of the situation, which it was feared would stir up much bitterness. It hopes to satisfy Spain and Brazil through diplomatic channels.

Brazil May Announce Bolt.

Afranio Mello Franco, appearing after his "indisposition," restated Brazil's case. He will make a public declaration tomorrow, when it is believed he will announce that while Brazil no longer objects to Germany, it will withdraw from the league if its claims to a permanent council are not met. Sig. Sodré also made a significant note by adding Italy's unalterable opposition to increasing the number of council seats above the fourteen envisaged in Lord Cecil's reorganization scheme. He said if the permanent seats are increased the nonpermanent members would have their power reduced proportionately.

It is apparent that the league leaders are not greatly concerned over Brazil's possible withdrawal, since their desire is to limit the influence of their enemies. While Brazil out of the way, it will be easy for France, Italy, and Japan to extend again the promises of permanent seats, and Spain's aspirations may be satisfied.

Ends Control of Austria.

The council officially lifted the financial control over Austria. It was announced that Dr. Zimmerman will give up the high commissionership June 26. The league went on record as opposing the recruiting of native troops in mandated territories for use outside of their home lands.

BALTIMORE DEATH FOUND ACCIDENTAL.

An omelet's legend on the death of Alfred Bussey, 50 years old, prominent bather and egg dealer, who was found shot in his office at the Hotel Carlton, was that it was a verdict of accidental death after hearing witnesses at the Hudson Avenue police station that he had been shot by a man who had been killed by a widow and two children.

taken as an indication that Moscow is endeavoring to strengthen its hold on the politicians in Germany by bringing its Chinese allies into play. German agents repeatedly have endeavored to place orders for arms and ammunition in Germany. This is impossible under the provisions of the Versailles treaty, but it is believed the clauses do not apply to the sale of arms to China.

Germany would only be forced to ask permission of the disarmament committee before accepting orders for war material and prove that they actually were delivered to China. It is believed the Soviets might attempt to ship part of these munitions back to Russia.

Raid Communist Headquarters.

The Berlin police raided the communist headquarters last night, arresting thirteen communists on a charge of preparing for high treason and civil war.

The police report the discovery of arms, arms and ammunition cache in the district of Hessen. Only seventy-five rifles were seized, but the newspapers consider the find proof that political plotters are working with renewed activity on all sides.

CLAIM ARRESTS IRREGULAR IN HARVESTER CASE

Defense attorneys yesterday attempted to suppress much of the state's evidence against James (Fur) Sammons, William (Three Fingered Jack) White, Thomas Shupe, and James Gentile, who are charged before Judge John P. McGroarty with the $5,000 pay roll robbery of the International Harvester company. Judge McGroarty will render his decision on the motion of the attorneys to the effect that testimony as to the robbers, saved off shotgun and money found upon the defendants when they were arrested be suppressed because the police did not have search warrants and because they exceeded their jurisdiction by making an arrest out of Chicago.

Mr. Irene Hogan, #801 South Marshallfield avenue, switchboard operator at the Harvester company, will be one of the principal witnesses for the state today when taking of testimony is started.

SHERRY, FAMOUS RESTAURATEUR, IS DEAD AT 70

New York, June 9.—(AP)—Death today ended the career of Louis Sherry, restaurateur of international fame, whose name has long been revered wherever bon vivants have gathered. He died after several weeks' illness in the Sherry apartment in the Hotel Ambassador. He was born in England about 70 years ago.

Mr. Sherry was one of New York's most noted caterers. The restaurant he conducted at 41st street and 5th avenue was for years a center about which the social life of the oil 400 revolved. The name Sherry's was synonymous with social success and the gathering place of epicures.

The original Sherry's came into being at 38th street and 6th avenue. It was started with a capital of $1,300. Sam and Tom Sherry came rapidly to Mr. Sherry, and it was not until 1919 that he was able to retire.

His name will be perpetuated through Sherry's, Inc., which is now a leading Park avenue restaurant.

FRENCH LIFT BAN ON EXPORTS OF WABBLING FRANC

PERSHING TO SAIL IN FEW DAYS TO INSPECT
BATTLE MONUMENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., June 9.—[Special]—Gen. John J. Pershing will sail for an inspection trip in connection with his work as head of the battlefields monuments commission, it was announced by the war department yesterday. While no particular significance was attached to the proposed trip by the war department, the general's leaving for Europe at this time sets at rest all rumors that he might possibly return to Tacna-Arica as chairman of the plebiscitary commission set up by President Coolidge.

The pension system, calling for the names and address of owners of all savings bonds, and other securities to avoid taxation, was abandoned. French citizens will revert to the ordinary paper, which does not disclose the identity of the owner. Further employment of the country's gold reserve to sustain the franc was also abandoned, the government deciding to hand bullion as a guarantee of credit and the eventual creation of a new currency.

BY HENRY WALES.

Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PARIS, June 9.—Heroic measures to save the franc were decided upon at sessions of the cabinet today, apparently reversing its former position, when the cabinet decided to lift all restrictions on the export of capital. France's movement in its monetary policy, however, is expected to receive confirmation in France's national currency, which dropped slightly today to about 33 to the dollar.

The pension system, calling for the names and address of owners of all savings bonds, and other securities to avoid taxation, was abandoned. French citizens will revert to the ordinary paper, which does not disclose the identity of the owner. Further employment of the country's gold reserve to sustain the franc was also abandoned, the government deciding to hand bullion as a guarantee of credit and the eventual creation of a new currency.

Victory for Bankers.
These decisions mark a victory for expert banking opinion over politicians' formulas and temporarily ends the war between the Bank of France and the cabinet.

Serious difficulties which may threaten the existence of the Briand government are expected over the decisions. The radicals, Socialists, and communists, who control a majority of the chamber of deputies, consider the pension system their pet scheme and the current means of taxing the rich on the full amount of their property. The abolition of bearer securities was won by the radicals after a bitter parliamentary fight, and it stands ready to attack against the government's effort to repeal the provision.

The new fight will disclose whether the Briand cabinet will be overthrown or has won the support of a new majority, including the moderate center and the reactionary right Nationalists and Clericals.

Avert Cabinet Crisis.
France was all set, according to various reports, for a cabinet crisis this morning when Premier Aristide Briand returned from Geneva. However, the summer induced financial Minister had to retain his portfolio a few days at least, until a new coalition cabinet can be worked out.

BOHEMIANS BOW TO PRINCE OTTO
AS FUTURE KING

(Chicago Tribune Press Service) PRAGUE, June 9.—According to the newspaper Rijen, secret police of Czechoslovakia report that during the international polo meeting at Vienna members of the leading Bohemian aristocracy, including Prince Schwarzenberg, Kinsky, and Thun, held a conference to discuss their attitude to Prince Otto's return to the throne.

The courtroom crowd was larger, the number of the defendant's relatives was less, and the progress of picking a jury to try Major Durkin for the murder of Federal Agent Edwin C. Shanahan was just where it was the day before, as court adjourned yesterday afternoon.

As to relatives, Irma Sullivan Valinskak, most recent bride of the defendant, was absent, and her whereabouts a mystery. Marty's mother, well known, came to court after another.

The verdict was not given yesterday, and it is now the king of Bohemia.

The Bohemian aristocracy have agreed to look upon Otto as the future king. A message of homage was sent to former Empress Zita.

Senator Wadsworth (Rep., N. Y.), championing repeal of the 18th amendment and the substitution of a graduated tax toward government regulation of the liquor traffic, is running true to New York form, according to Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League.

Wheeler Attacks Wadsworth.

"New York has usually backed into the federal government and its plans instead of leading them up," observed Senator Wheeler in a statement tonight, which holds that Wadsworth stands unmasked as the "beer and wine agitator" as the first step toward complete destruction of national prohibition.

The suggested change of definition non-intoxicating in fact is a barefaced attempt to make the law nonenforceable," Mr. Wheeler said.

JUDGE ASSAILS JURY EVASION IN DURKIN TRIAL

The courtroom crowd was larger, the number of the defendant's relatives was less, and the progress of picking a jury to try Major Durkin for the murder of Federal Agent Edwin C. Shanahan was just where it was the day before, as court adjourned yesterday afternoon.

As to relatives, Irma Sullivan Valinskak, most recent bride of the defendant, was absent, and her whereabouts a mystery. Marty's mother, well known, came to court after another.

The verdict was not given yesterday, and it is now the king of Bohemia.

The Bohemian aristocracy have agreed to look upon Otto as the future king. A message of homage was sent to former Empress Zita.

their oath and falsified in order to evade jury service. Judge Miller remarked scathingly, "as a new venture of 100 men were sworn in. It is a shame and a disgrace that out of 217 veniremen only six Chicago citizens have been found to serve."

Father Held for Deserting
3 Small Children in Street

Frank Valinskak, 3958 Avenue M, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Theodore Ehrler yesterday for abandoning his three children, Edward, 9; Victoria, 7, and William, 6. Valinskak's wife left him a month ago, according to testimony, and he was said to have taken the three children to the far north side and turned them loose with the direction: "Go find your mother." The children, weeping, were taken to police to the station house. The case against Valinskak was continued while search is made for his wife.

OFFER FLAMING YOUTH DEFENSE TO CO-ED'S SUIT

PREDICTS RECORD FRIGID WINTER, BLEAK SUMMER

Oceanic Weather Man Talks Here.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Battle Creek, Mich., June 9.—[Special to the Tribune]—The "cigarette, wine, and modern" defense of Arthur Rich began in court yesterday for the "millionaire" who called their first witnesses in the $20,000 damage suit of Louise King. The cigarette note was sounded in the last minutes of defense testimony. Harrison Howes testified that Mrs. King smoked cigarettes "as if she had them" the first time he saw her. This was in August or September, 1924, seven months before the attack on Mrs. King for which Rich is serving a life term.

Bars Reading of Testimony.
An hour's defense was offered in defense motion yesterday. The defense asked to be permitted to read Mrs. King's testimony at the trial in Battle Creek last November, when a jury disagreed, 9 to 3, upon conviction. Judge North ruled that defense attorneys should have visited Jackson prison, where Rich is confined, and obtained his deposition. He refused to allow the testimony to be read. Motion of the defense was made earlier in the trial that a verdict be directed for the defense on the ground that Rich is in prison and cannot be required to testify and that this damage suit was started while the criminal action is still pending, was renewed. It was denied by the court, in the absence of the jury.

Grandmother Is Witness.
Mrs. Lillian Rich testified that Arthur, her grandson, spent nearly an hour at her home on the morning of May 28 after the alleged attack and she observed no scratch on his face. George H. Rice, Arthur's father, made his final payment on the hospital bill of the coed just a year ago today, according to a statement submitted. This was not admitted as evidence. The statement, submitted by the Battle Creek sanitarium, showed that Rich made two payments, totaling $40, for hospital and medical attention given the girl.

SUBMIT GOODING BILL AS RIDER ON RIVERS MEASURE

Anti-Chicago Bloc Opens Its Fight in Senate.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., June 9.—(Special)—Submission of the controversial Gooding long and short haul rail rate bill as an amendment to the omnibus rivers and harbors bill today was the first move of the state anti-Chicago bloc in the senate to kill the Illinois river waterway project which the house approved a few days ago.

Senator Gooding (Rep., Idaho), whose bill was drawn to prevent the middle western territory from securing rail rate reductions, enabling it to compete with water transportation to and from the Pacific coast, known to affect Illinois and particularly Chicago in its favor, did not offer a similar measure a few months ago. This, according to inland waterway proponents, accounts for his willingness to line up with the filibusters against completion of the Illinois river link in the great lakes to gulf waterway system.

Madden and Hull Confident.

In spite of this new obstacle, however, Representatives Madden (Rep., Ill.) and Hull (Rep., Ill.), who steered the rivers and harbors bill through a stiff fight in the house, are confident that the measure will be promptly recommended to the senate by its commerce committee, which meets tomorrow.

Senator Wadsworth (Rep., N. Y.), chairman of the senate steering committee, has assured the bill a place on the legislative program. Mr. Madden has warned Senator Curtis (Rep., Kas.), Republican floor leader, that supporters of the Illinois river project in the house will do everything in their power to prevent the adjournment of congress until the house authorization for the appropriation of $1,350,000 for completion of the waterway has been ratified.

Willis Its Only Opponent.

As he is the only known opponent of the project on the commerce committee, Senator Willis (Rep., O. J., leader of the filibuster), will be unable, it was said today, to prevent the committee from speedy action.

Representative Hull, in a statement tonight, stressed the importance of the lake interests fighting Chicago and Illinois of provisions in the bill for a survey of lakes, harbors, and channels to determine how best to maintain adequate levels.

DUCE SLIPS BACK INTO ROME FROM QUIET VACATION

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

ROME, June 9.—After having enjoyed himself as a common citizen for three days, Premier Mussolini, bronzed from sun exposure, returned quietly to Rome late last night and stole unobtrusively into his apartment of Villa Torlonia. The premier drove 600 miles at the wheel of a high-powered racing car, accompanied only by a mechanic.

This is the first time since the march on Rome in 1922 that Premier Mussolini has shown that he is tiring of the ovation of the masses. He refused to ride in the grandiose triumphal parade known where he was going.

Premier Mussolini was returned to his official duties this morning smiling, pleased with having eluded the crowds, and confessed that he had visited his wife and two sons, Bruno and Victor, at Carpemina, and then with his wife had motored to Poggio Imperiale and visited his daughter, Edda, who is attending college there. However, the police chief and detectives kept watch over the Duce.

Pierce-Arrow Sales in Chicago Increase 152%

80% of the new business is traced directly to Tribune advertising!

WHEN Pierce-Arrow buys Chicago Tribune space the message is intended to reach the greatest number of men in the $5,000-a-year class.

It is intended to do that and more. It is intended to impress Pierce-Arrow distinction, Pierce-Arrow performance, Pierce-Arrow value on every member of the families of those with incomes that equal or exceed $5,000 a year.

It is further intended to reach the largest number of people who are on their way up to $5,000 a year or over.

The Tribune,
the "greatest sales producing agency"

So powerful is the selling influence of The Chicago Tribune that Pierce-Arrow has found it to be the greatest sales producing agency it has ever used in this territory.

Pierce-Arrow used other papers, as well as The Tribune, in 1924 and sold, as a result, a goodly number of cars in Cook County in that year. About the middle of 1925 Pierce-Arrow decided to use The Chicago Tribune more extensively in Chicago. Now note what happened.

Sales of Pierce-Arrow cars in Cook County for 1925 jumped 152% over 1924. These figures cover only retail sales in Cook County. They do not include sales by outside dealers in Chicago territory.

Advertisers who are interested in increasing their sales in the Chicago territory should read the letter of Mr. A. A. Crumley, General Manager of the Pierce-Arrow Sales Corporation, Chicago, distributors for Pierce-Arrow.

Mr. Crumley says:

"We believe the increased sale of Pierce-Arrow cars in this territory is, to a marked extent, due to the use of The Chicago Tribune. It is quite noticeable on days that we advertise in your newspaper we have many more visitors and many new prospects in our salesroom. Also on the day after an advertisement appears in The Tribune, we have many prospects come to our showrooms."

"Since our salesmen are trying to find out the source of each prospect, we found that 80% saw our advertisement in The Chicago Tribune. I might even say that we have ten times as many interested prospects come into our salesroom on the days we advertise in The Tribune as on the days when we do not run advertisements."

"Another surprising fact is that out of the total number of Pierce-Arrow owners in Cook County, we are now servicing 95% at our local Service Station, whereas a year ago we were serving less than 50% of those owners."

Mr. Crumley also stated that his salesmen "fought for the job as floorman" on the days Pierce-Arrow advertisements appeared in The Tribune. During the first six months in which this advertising was increased in The Tribune, Pierce-Arrow trebled the number of sales in Cook County. Pierce-Arrow's success in finding its biggest Chicago market in The Tribune's circulation indicates the possibilities of this same circulation for any manufacturer not now making use of it. A Tribune man can show you how to increase your sales in the Chicago territory.

Sarah Field Splint on McCall Street

This food authority of known merit at the service of McCall Street

DIRECTOR of Home Conservation of food with Herbert Hoover during the late war and decorated by the United States Government for distinguished service, Sarah Field Splint is one of the nation's foremost authorities on food and household management.

Fortunate indeed is McCall Street to have a food counselor of such conspicuous talent, ripe experience and known merit.

In the famous McCall Laboratory Kitchen, Miss Splint and a distinguished staff of domestic science experts are constantly at work striving to help the women on McCall Street with their cooking, marketing and housekeeping problems. Here foods are analyzed, tested and cooked. Here the latest household appliances are put to rigid tests. Here intensive studies are made in marketing, home economics and dietetics.

Known Merit

TO have merit and not be known may mean something in the future, but it means nothing at present. To be known but to be without merit is to be sliding from the present into the past. But known merit is a thing of the immediate present. McCall's is a magazine of the immediate present. Its contributors are writers of known merit. Its advertisers offer goods of known merit, and its readers buy and consume known merit.

The results of these studies, together with articles by contributing food authorities, are published each month in McCall's Magazine. Thus the women on McCall Street are sure to get the latest recipe, the up-to-date menu, modern marketing advice, and numerous practical suggestions for making housekeeping more attractive and efficient.

Recipes that are stylish and smart

A suggestion from Sarah Field Splint can put a new dish on thousands of tables within a week. For the women who read McCall's Magazine are constantly seeking to vary their menus, not only for the beneficial effect on appetite and health but to add the stylish, modish note that every successful hostess strives for.

No great food advertiser is more thorough in the search to discover and give to the women of this country new and really excellent recipes than is McCall's, through the medium of the McCall Laboratory Kitchen.

These ideas appeal to the women of McCall Street because they are just as style-minded concerning their homes and their meals as they are about their clothes. They pride themselves on the correctness of their table appointments, the excellence of their service, the balance of their menus. This is the characteristic of the readers of McCall's—a mental attitude toward living that is reflected in thousands of ways, in the letters received by Miss Splint. These letters indicate beyond a doubt that here is a distinct and definite group that knows what is the new thing; that wants to do it; that invariably finds the money to do it with—in short, the people who are getting ahead in life.

Of such is McCall Street.

The advertising pages of McCall's are a safe index of the McCall market. Glance through these advertisements. Note how the label of known merit greets you with consistent regularity, in the good names displayed on page after page.

SOX AND THOMAS SET DOWN MACKS, 4-1

BERLENBACH TO DEFEND TITLE BEFORE 50,000

Odds on Stribling Take Tumble.

Some Arithmetic

NEW YORK, June 9.—Paul Berlenbach, the world's light heavyweight champion, and Young Stribling, who clash for the title tomorrow night at the Yankee Stadium, are the measurements of Young Stribling, who will defend his title to-morrow night against Young Stribling of the Yankees in the first of the season's outdoor championship fights planned by Tex Rickard. The bout is scheduled for fifteen rounds to a decision, and it is expected that close to 50,000 fans will be in attendance, with the re-approximating $250,000.

Stribling has a championship fight more interesting and seldom has the outcome of a title event appeared open to speculation. The betting odds, which earlier in the week were favoring Stribling at 7 to 5 and 6 to 5, continue to shorten today, with even money being the current price. The shift was caused by a wealth of Berlenbach support, and it seems even likely that the champion will rule a slight favorite.

Records Favor Stribling.

On past performances, Stribling would appear to have a slight edge on Berlenbach. Both men are Clevelanders, the 190 pound Cleveland heavyweight, Berlenbach, was unable to overcome the 15 pound handicap he was forced to concede and took a severe drubbing, losing the decision, though he finished strong. Stribling, in the other hand, tied Risko into knots and puffed up a big lead early which won the decision, though the margin tattered perceptibly in the closing round.

One observer of the game, however, is not inclined to take these arrangements seriously in comparing the relative merits of Berlenbach and Stribling. He points to the fact that Berlenbach failed to fight the type of battle he should have against the slow but stronger and heavier Risko, and there is a general feeling that from the experience gained the Astoria mauler would turn the tables on Risko in a return bout.

Boxer Versus Puncher.

Berlenbach's supporters are banking heavily on the champion's superior strength, punching power, and general ruggedness to withstand punishment to return him the winner.

VICTORY CHEERS AGAIN RING IN DURNELL'S EARS

His Silks Victorious Twice at Aurora.

3 Jockeys Barred

AURORA, Ill., June 9.—Three jockeys drew the official ban of the Exposition park stewards today.

Jay Roberts was barred for an unsatisfactory ride on Sanola last Saturday. H. Church was suspended from all racing except those of his contract employer, E. P. Summerfield, because of several unsatisfactory rides on outside horses, while L. Pichon drew a similar riding for five days for rough riding on My Mary in the first race today.

MARY RANKED WITH HELEN.

AURORA, Ill., June 9.—Once more the name of Charley (Boots) Durnell stands across the lawns of Exposition park, when the veteran horseman saddled the winners of two stakes events on this afternoon's program.

When Durnell had won the 1000-yard, later when he handled the royal stables in Rumania and other European countries, his name was familiar to every turf follower.

Miss Browne, who has won the affectionate sobriquet of "Little Bulldog" by her play here, almost as good a chance against Suzanne as Helen would have had. Mary's admirers declare her great court craft offsets Miss Will's mighty driving power.

Miss Brown won the first stakes set from Miss Bouman by soundness in the first race and superlative tactics. The sturdy Dutch girl tried to run Mary off her feet by a varied criss-cross attack, but the Californian met the challenge brilliantly, winning the set, 8-6.

In the second set Miss Bouman's efforts completely exhausted her when Miss Mary ran up a lead of 5-0. Miss Bouman once fell heavily after a daring lunge and one of Mary's deadly dead-panned turns had caused her to lunge back and forth across the court like Hans Brinker. The Dutch champion rallied bravely and took two more games before Miss Browne won the set, which gave her the long awaited chance to face Suzanne across the net.

BROWNE BEATS KINSEY.

Smiling Gus, three year old son of Miss Philadelphian, won the Barrington handicap after a gallant drive down the stretch in which he beat Cowgird and Pegasus, the three leaders finishing closely bunched. In the Ottawa stakes The Hotel, a Durnell 2 year old, sprinted home a neck in front of Biddy Shipp. Smiling Gus took a fifth of a second off the record in capturing the Barrington.

IN THE SECOND SET MISS BOUMAN'S EFFORTS COMPLETELY EXHAUSTED HER WHEN MISS MARY RAN UP A LEAD OF 5-0. ## SOLDIERS' FIELD PUT IN SHAPE FOR TRACK RECORDS

College Stars Arriving for Meet Saturday.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

With the arrival of the nation's greatest track athletes, representing sixty-three universities and colleges, who will compete in the fifth annual track and field championships of the National Collegiate A. A. A. Soldiers' field tomorrow and Saturday, the committee in charge of the event is banding every effort to put the field and track in such excellent condition that records may be bettered or tied.

Yesterday the committee, composed of Chairman A. A. Stagg of Chicago, T. E. Jones of Wisconsin, and Maj. John L. Griffith, the Big Ten athletic commissioner, made a thorough inspection of the field. The field improvements to Herbert Reynolds and George Donoghue, south parks officials who are in charge of the squad of men putting the field in shape.

Track in Good Condition.

While the committee asserted the track could be slightly harder, it is satisfied with the general layout. Conditions will be ideal for the field event men, and the track will be fairly firm for the runners.

Ex-Senator Charles A. Rawson of Iowa will arrive in Chicago this morning to act as referee. Rawson will hold a conference with the committee on the running of the meet so it shall be run off in less than three hours.

The number of athletes training on Stagg Field is increased every day by new arrivals. The University of Washington team worked out on the Midway field yesterday afternoon under Coach Edmundson. Southern California athletes were seen throughout the places by Coach Dean Cromwell and the Stanford performers also were out.

The Nebraska team, champion of the Missouri Valley conference, is expected today in charge of Coach Henry Schulte; while some of the Michigan athletes who won the Big Ten title will arrive tomorrow morning with Coach Steve Powell. Coach Harry Gill of Illinois will bring up his band of performers tomorrow morning.

Locke Finishes Here.

Lincoln, Neb., June 9. (AP)—Roland Locke will not participate in the National A. A. U. games at Philadelphia in July, preferring to let his competition at Chicago at the end of this week stand as his final "big time" competition this year.

Morris Schlaifer, Omaha
Boxer, Suspended for Year

Lincoln, Neb., June 9. (AP)—Morris Schlaifer, Omaha boxer, has been suspended for one year, the National Boxing association notified John Killam, state boxing commissioner today. "Save Greatest College Meet for Chicago"—Stagg

The following letter from A. A. Stagg, director of athletics at the University of Chicago, tells how close Chicago is to losing the greatest annual college track meet:

TO ALL SPORTSMEN:

The fifth annual meet of the National Collegiate Athletic Association will take place on Soldiers' field next Saturday. Will you be one of ten thousand to support this meet and thereby help keep it annually in Chicago? If so, act quickly by buying tickets at the G. Spalding & Bros. State Store. The meet means a lot of hard work for the committee, and of course without financial reward, but personally I hate to see Chicago lose it. One city already has guaranteed $10,000 to have the meet next year.

The N. C. A. A. meet was first held in Chicago and has never been held anywhere else. Are the sportsmen and the fifty thousand college men of Chicago willing to let this biggest event of its kind in the world go elsewhere?

Sportsmen of Chicago, the decision is in your hands. A. A. STAGG,
Chairman of N. C. A. A. Committee.

W-G-N TO CARRY NATIONAL OPEN
QUALIFYING PLAY

Golf on Air First Time in Local History.

BY MORROW KRUM.

For the first time in the history of local golf the story of a links competition will be broadcast next Monday.

Radio station W-G-N will broadcast the qualifying round for the national open championship, which will be played at the Calumet Country Club.

Station W-G-N officials conferred with George Knox, professional at Calumet, and members of the club last night and determined arrangements were completed.

Play begins at 9 o'clock on Monday morning until the play over the difficult course has been completed and the qualifiers declared there will be five minute reports every half hour. Bill Hay, announcer, who is also a golfer, will be at the mike to tell you what the stars of the links are doing.

The play will be a 36 hole test of skill for 110 golfers who hope to qualify for the national classic next month at Columbus. Of the 113, nineteen will be allowed to qualify. The field contains the names of the best golfers in this section of America.

Today the golf stars of the Western collegiate conference will practice over the Knollwood course in preparation for the Big Ten championship tournament, which opens tomorrow and closes late Saturday afternoon. Nine teams have entered. Tomorrow's play will be a 36 hole medal play competition for the team championship of the conference. On Saturday the play will continue for another 36 holes and the total strokes of the 72 holes will determine the collegiate champion.

Nicholas Hilsen, Maroon, will defend the individual title and Northwestern will fight to retain the team championship.

The final 18 holes of the high school championship of Chicago will be played at the Calumet Park, June 18, according to announcement yesterday by Jim Mullen, who is arranging the matches for the Elks. Each fighter will receive 25 per cent of the receipts.

The windup will be supported by four other contests.

According to terms of the contract, both fighters have agreed to be in Chicago three days before the bout.

Francis Schaeffer is training hard for his bout with Billy Petrolle at East

Chicago on June 18. Petrolle will meet Sid Terris in New York tomorrow night and will start for Chicago on Saturday.

Bud Taylor and Manager Eddie Long left yesterday for the coast, where Taylor will engage in two bouts this month. Taylor took a long vacation after the trials and some practice made up his mind to permit Bud to meet Jimmy McLarnin at Los Angeles on July 5.

Tod Morgan, the world's junior lightweight champion, who stopped Kid Sullivan in the sixth round in New York last week, returned to Chicago yesterday.

Volcott Langford, the colored lightweight champion of the United States, is working every day for his fifteen round decision fight with Kavo White at New Orleans on June 25.

Sammy Shack, a New York bantamweight, arrived in Chicago yesterday. Sammy will remain in the city and will be used in the preliminary shows when the boxing commission starts to issue permits.

Don Davis, local 124 pounder, under the name of "Big Boy," has been selected to meet Joe Rivers of Kansas City in the main event of the American Legion show at Kansas City, Kas., on June 22.

SUBSIDIARIES OF N.Y. CENTRAL PUT IN VAST SYSTEM

New York, June 9.—[Special]—Directors of the New York Central railroad recommended today that its authorized capital stock be increased from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000 and that five subsidiary lines, now controlled through majority stock ownership by leading to the parent company, shall be leased to the parent company.

The proposed leases, involving the Michigan Central, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis (Big Four), the Cincinnati Northern, the Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw, and the Evansville, Indianapolis and Terre Haute roads, represent the first important recent step of the New York Central to bring its subsidiary lines into closer union.

At the same time the Michigan Central, 99 per cent of the stock of which is owned by the New York Central, declared a semi-annual dividend of 11½ per cent, thereby raising the annual rate of payment from 20 per cent to 35 per cent.

Employes Can Buy Stock.

The New York Central recently increased its holdings of Michigan Central by public offer of $1,000 a share for the few outstanding minority shares.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the New York Central will meet here Sept. 29 to authorize leases and the $100,000,000 increase in capital stock, after which the proposals will be submitted for the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"At a special meeting," said the official announcement of the company, "the stockholders will be asked to authorize the board of directors to offer from time to time to employees of the company or its subsidiaries or of the New York Central stock for subscription in amounts not more than $20,000,000 in the aggregate." At present the outstanding stock amounts to $382,253,340.

Under the proposed lease of its property to the parent company the Michigan Central company will lease to it for a term of nine years an amount of rental, including a dividend on the Michigan Central stock pledged as collateral for the 3½ per cent collateral loan of that company, in compliance with the terms of the indenture, and an amount equivalent to 50 per cent of the premium on the Michigan Central stock not owned by the New York Central.

The lease of the Big Four will call for a yearly rental equivalent to 5 per cent of the preferred stock and 18 per cent on its common stock not owned by the parent company.

The parent company's holdings of these shares, it was announced, amounted to 84 per cent of the preferred and 21 per cent of the common stock.

The Cincinnati Northern, 97 per cent of the stock of which is held by the Big Four, will receive from the latter a rental amounting to 10 per cent on the outstanding minority shares. The Big Four will transfer this leasehold to the New York Central.

Subleasing a Feature.

Similarly, the Evansville, Indianapolis and Terre Haute will be leased to the Big Four, which owns all its stock, and the Big Four will then give the leasehold over to the parent company.

The Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw, all the stock of which is owned by the Michigan Central and the New York Central, will be leased directly to the Central.

No announcement was made regarding the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, which along with the Michigan Central and the Big Four, has been a big concern. Although the New York Central controls this line through ownership of a majority of its stock, the proportional holding was not as large as that in the other two principal subsidiaries.

Eventually it is expected the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, the Rutland, and other smaller subsidiaries will be taken in by the parent line.

COTTON PRICES LOWERED

New York, June 9.—(AP)—Plans to consolidate 34 public utility properties of the Pittman system in Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, Arkansas, and Texas, under the title of Inland Power and Light corporation, were announced today. The properties are now grouped under the Commonwealth Light and Power company and the Interstate Electric Corporation.

Eventually it is expected the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, the Rutland, and other smaller subsidiaries will be taken in by the parent line.

Lowering of cotton prices was due to favorable weather and crop reports as indicated by the government weekly bulletins to Liverpool and New York. July, which attracted attention on Tuesday, was weaker and closing trades were lower toward the end of the day. Net in Chicago, were 16.11 points lower, and in New York, 5 points lower, and in New Orleans unchanged at 17.80c. More cotton is on shipboard for export a year ago.

A membership of the New York cotton exchange paid at $26,000, a drop of $2,000 from the previous day.

Beauty - Engineering - Performance -

One pleasant feature about Wills Sainte Claire ownership is your knowledge that the car is universally admired and respected for its beauty and originality of design.

Indeed, Wills Sainte Claire has pioneered in those graces of fashionable bodycraft usually associated with the smartest coach work of Italy and France. Pioneered, too, in the adoption of balloon tires, steel disc wheels, and many other smart features now accorded general acceptance.

This rakish originality, combined with striking interior ease and luxury, appeal to people who do not care to drive a vehicle that meets its twin at every street corner.

Lift the hood and survey the engine. You discover a long, tall, narrow block of power, clean-cut, ready of access, and set in a chassis designed and built by America's foremost engineer-builder—C. Harold Wills.

Observe the masterful economy of parts, invariably found in engineering of the first order.

The overhead valve and cam-shaft, for instance, eliminating valve lifters, pushrods, rocker arms and other noise-making, trouble-making non-essentials, another principle pioneered by Wills Sainte Claire.

Yet perhaps the most thrilling feature of all is Wills Sainte Claire performance—proof unanswerable of superb and elastic power, perfectly synchronized with body weight and chassis design.

Join us for an hour on city streets—or point her nose to the open road! Not until then will you know the thrill of perfect motor-ing—an unforgettable adventure in silence, power and marvelous flexibility!

Furthermore—Wills Sainte Claire is now lowest in price in the fine car group—Roadster $2700—Gray Goose Traveler $2700—5-Passenger Sedan $3150—7-Passenger Sedan $3250. All prices f. o. b. Marysville, Michigan.

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy

Reg. U.S.
Patent Office

SYNOPSIS.

Joe Parks, Hudson Bay company's agent at Moose Lake, is greatly disturbed by a news item in an English paper announcing the coming marriage of Alastair Spence Panton to Ellen Grant and referring to the prospective groom as the heir apparent of Lord Oban. John, the son of John Bridgnorth Panton, disappeared some years ago and whose death is now presumed. John has decided to leave Moose Lake and go back to England. Arrived at Edderton, he tells Mr. Leslie, the temporary head of the Hudson Bay company that he is John Bridgnorth Panton. Mrs. Leslie's daughter, a sympathetic listener to the tale and encourages her father to help him. Panton is a cowardly, unscrupulous scoundrel who has been unkind to his wife and son. In the meantime Ellen Grant is married in London to Alastair Panton. Immediately after the ceremony she learns that John Panton is alive and on his way to England to claim an inheritance left him by his aunt, Lord Oban. John Panton's father, tells Ellen that his son had been dismissed from the army for cowardice under fire and drunkenness and had been unable to forgive him. Mrs. Leslie's daughter is sympathetic with Alastair as she has been unkind to him. She tells him that she will not live with him until he repents. John is settled in his new position. He is informed of the arrival of his son on the fatal day he returns to lead his men out of the trenches. John is a cowardly, unkind man, but in that slight degree from the Spartan school of unforgiving parent. In effect, he says, Hector must perish. John leaves to Alastair at the first practicable moment. Ellen reads letters which come from John to his father and to Alastair and she is grieved in her belief of his innocence. She quarrels bitterly with Alastair.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

THE BATTLE BEGINS.

Alastair assumed at the breakfast table that his cousin had seen him, but he cared not a jot what Betty might think. His only concern was that Lord Oban should not have written to his son before he had been consulted. No matter what line John might have taken in the letter to his father which Ellen had spoken of, the abuse and threats showered on one who had never been known to do him an injury could not fail to influence his reply, provided it were really true that his brotherhood must be maintained in that slight degree from the Spartan school of unforgiving parent. In effect, Hector must perish.

The opportunity came sooner than Alastair himself expected. Lord Oban and not a hearty appetite that morning. He ate but little, and that slowly. Before the others, he asked his nephew to come to "the den" when at short.

Eileen lifted her head at that.

"May I come, too, uncle?" she said.

The request was a cartel, the veritable challenge. It sent a mild shock through the room, because the Lansings felt electricity in the air.

But "uncle" only smiled. He was master of his emotions that morning.

"Everyone here, not excepting my wife, seems to forget that this sort of thing is beautifull bad form."

"No" he said, kindly enough. "Later, if you wish, but I want a few words with Alastair first."

She let it at that. There was no sense in provoking a disagreeable situation, and she was convinced that for once in his life Alastair would not prevail against John.

The episode was quietly dramatic in its own way, but its interest did not compare with the tense situation caused by Brown's perfectly natural curiosity as to the name which Mr. Alastair Panton professed to have forgotten. Dropping the letters one by one into the box at Inverlochill postoffice he came in so that intended for a Mr. Dorrington. Odd how Mr. Alastair had been mistaken.

"It's no Dorrington but Connington," said Dougall to himself. "Ferdi and Connington, Esq., care of the Secretary, Gamma-Delta Club, Dean street, Soho, London. Gosh, what an address! Connington? I mind no Conningtons I this pair of Inverness, Gamma-Delta? Noo, what's one tak o' words like they? An' it's marked 'Kindly forward' as well. Hap' on this laddie! Dorrington-Connington is no there at a', but I'm some other standish place kent on' by some Secretary. Annoyin, in ye ga'e!"

The singular fact about this quite simple incident was that Brown's nose greatly encumbered brain should be able to retain the complete address. It was on the envelope for just so long time that it was absolutely necessary to make the name of ultimate importance. If certain initials made no mistake, they would soon be caught. Wise persons like Alastair Panton did not occasionally underestimate the wisdom of others; they would be invincible, whether their actions boded good or evil to their fellow men.

Alastair did not hurry over his breakfast. His philosophy of life was that of the Epicureans—that whatever we believe to affect us does affect us, and therefore real so error can only arise when mere supposition is confused with that which we actually feel. He felt quite unmistakably that something had gone wrong, and traced the hostile influence to Eileen's championship of that erratic writer, John Bridgnorth Panton.

It was a puzzling situation. Where his friend was concerned the heir to Eileen's heart had written only two letters in seven years. One was an all-other-praises kind of letter, Alastair's point of view. What high exploitation of the envelope for just so long time that it was absolutely necessary to make the name of ultimate importance. If certain initials made no mistake, they would soon be caught. Wise persons like Alastair Panton did not occasionally underestimate the wisdom of others; they would be invincible, whether their actions boded good or evil to their fellow men.

He felt quite unmistakably that something had gone wrong, and traced the hostile influence to Eileen's championship of that erratic writer, John Bridgnorth Panton.

It was a daring effort, but Alastair was a Panton who had never been charged with cowardice.

"I have to mention such as word as 'court martial,' but I seem to be in 'war sea,'" he said, smiling as though he were making a harmless joke about a utterly unimportant thing. "Have you been pitchin' some yarn to Uncle Eileen about last night's going-on, Betty?"

"You mean about Eileen?"

"Betty, I think she can be accurate."

Thus Eileen herself. Though she winced at the reference to a court martial she did not hesitate to hit back.

"If you people are going to hold a symposium, Mary and I will take a run on the loch," put in Lansings good naturedly.

"Nothing of the sort, Reginald," drawled Lady Lansing. "Why spoil a perfectly good opening? The last word was yours, Eileen. Accurate, I think it was. It seemed to imply a qualification. Bang-to-the-date, I call it. I'm best and tallest Bankhead specialist in that kind of talk."

"We're a long way from the last word," said Betty Bridgnorth. "Alastair's mocking eyes with a bold stare which would have warned him had he not done it already. "I don't think any one else will say it. At any rate I haven't tried it on Uncle Hector. Since you reached upstairs after Eileen last night, Alastair, all I've said to him was 'Good morning,' and all he has said to me was 'Grrr,' or something like it in Gaelic."

"I recognize the sound. It means that the head of the clan is in a very bad temper. Perhaps you believe that the last word or it may be the last word, has reached him from some outside source."

"That would be a good guess, but a very misleading description of Cousin Eileen."

You, I understand, heard from him yesterday. Why shouldn't he tell all about his father?"

"He threatened to stay me at sight. You don't mean to tell me he offers to become a parrot-like as well?"

"No. O, no, I have not seen either letter, but it is quite possible that he promises you a warm time when you meet him wants to make sure of his friend first."

"Dear, dear! I seem to have been tried and convicted for some crime in the nature of which has not been even suggested so far. Are you mixed up in this, Eileen?"

"Yes."

"The hard, unflinching monosyllable flew across the table like a stone. Alastair unmoved, but before he could retort Sir Reginald's clenched fist brought down heavily, rattled all the breakfast crockery.

"I'm off," Mary, you come, too, or I'll go a damn sight farther than Loch Inver!"

Mary Lansing rose. She sighed, but she knew to an inch the length of her husband would allow.

"Too bad!" she said. "These poor dears are going to have a lovely row over before lunch, will you? You girls can tell me all about it after."

"But keep the spicy bits from Reginald. He simply hates domestic scenes. I haven't seen him bang the table like that since young Berlin."

"I haven't seen him fit one of those by the latest story from Paris. I wish I could remember it now. It might save the situation."

Select Group Sees Wedding of Miss Sheriff

ON HONEYMOON

MRS. FRANK ALLEN PRIEBE.

Ceremony One of Most Notable of Year.

The importance of her kith and kin made Miss Katherine Sheriff's wedding yesterday afternoon to Gardner Hammond the most notable of Chicago's spring nuptials. The service was held at St. Christopher's church and was followed by a reception at the Casino.

Most of the select group of guests who witnessed the marriage were relatives of the John J. Mitchells, who were serving the bride in the capacity of father and mother. The bride's father, Andrew R. Sheriff, was not present. The bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary C. Hammond of Santa Barbara, Cal.; his aunt, Mrs. Charles Hammond, and a cousin, Miss Mary Hammond, arrived with Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr.

The appointments of the wedding were lavish and handsome. Great clusters of ferns and smilax decorated the supporting pillars of the church and lined the walls of the chancel. Two large screens of white peonies and ferns fronted the altar, and the tall three branched candelabra lining the aisles were twined with roses. In front of the altar the delicate white ribbon tied to the pews ends, a long rope of silk marked the bridal path.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Mitchell, wore lustrous white satin and a full lace veil of Brussels point over her head and falling before her face. A short satin train, cleft at its end like a rose petal, depended from the gown. She carried a shower bouquet of ill-scented-and-pale orange blossoms.

Miss Louise Mitchell, the maid of honor, wore pale coral tulle over coral and pink, and carried a shower bouquet. Her hat was of white transparent straw with a coral colored feather ornament. The bridesmaids, Miss Louise Tyler, Mrs. Lloyd Laflin, Emilia Hoyt, and Mrs. Paul Floto of New York City wore Paris model gowns of pale green tulle, ruffled of skirt and edged with green and gold ribbon.

Mrs. Mitchell was wearing sea green crepe headed heavily in white, and her hat of a matching color trimmed with contrasting bands of ribbon and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour were among the early arrivals at the church. Mrs. Armour wore a gray cloth coat, fox trimmed, and a small black straw hat. Other members of the family occupying front pews included Mrs. William H. Mitchell, who was in purple flowered chiffon; Mme. Italia, Soriano, Mrs. Chauncey Blair, the John J. Mitchell Jr., Mrs. Clarence F. Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garfield King.

The others included Mrs. Rockefellar McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Drake, Mrs. John B. Drake Jr., Frances B. Drake, her sister, Mrs. Albert Madelon Jr., Harriet Lowden, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. Thomas Denney Jr. (Marion Warner), Miss Laura Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling and their two young daughters, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis McArthur, their son, Billings; Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. Theodore Shaw, Mrs. Francis Beider and her daughter, Miss Mary Beider; Mrs. Charles D. Fairbanks, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks; Miss Emily Scott, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt and her daughter, Robert H. Harvey and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Le Forgee.

Elmer Gruber, 2121 Michigan avenue salesman—I don't know; that's right to answer. It seems to me that they are wearing them too colorful, some of them. They ought to wear bright clothes like—Well, I like black. I like to see men be men and women be women. To see a man with spats, a red tie, loud clothes—sassy guy—that burns me up.

Miss Mart Rohrer, 1 East Erie street, telephone operator.—Sure. Wear bright clothes like—Well, I am wearing bright red, but that wouldn't do for them. They should wear simple clothes, though. Simple clothes make them look young.

Mrs. Allen Haines
Guest of Her Sister, Mrs. Billy Martin

BY NANCY R.

That gay and pretty matron, Mrs. Allen Haines (Edo), her friends call her) is out here from New York for a few days visiting her equally popular sister, Mrs. Billy Martin, at Lake Forest.

Mrs. Haines is as practical as she is gay and her jolly little cook book has made a hit all over the country; two or three hundred copies sold out in Santa Barbara in a week. This is just to show you how fast its fame has spread. Anything which diffuses an interest in and knowledge of the high art of cooking helps along our civilization by so much.

Mrs. Haines looked pretty and chic at Casino day before yesterday, when Mrs. Martin took her for lunch en route from the train and en route to Lake Forest.

Just why Clifford Leonard is foretelling a summer in his Lake Forest studio Telegraph road, this column doesn't know, but certain it is that he has leased his sections and the date stable and a couple of the cottages to Capt. Ivanenko, that dashing Russian officer, who, with his stunning Polish wife, has been giving a slave tour to Chicago's gay set for the last two years. A grandson of the famous writer, Count Leo Tolstol, is going into horses with Capt. Ivanenko.

Horseback riding has become much the mode of late years. One of the newest recruits to the increasing throng of equestrians who canter up and down the bridle path that runs from the municipal pines northward to, though, as a boy, I liked Lincoln Park, Mrs. Edward Brown, who looks extremely dashing as she rides along the lake shore. She has stayed in town later than usual this year so as to be near her sister, Mrs. Renesler Cox, who is at the Presbyterian hospital recovering from a serious operation. Mrs. Cox expects to return to her own house on Astor street today or tomorrow to complete her convalescence.

Rather Thin Radio Night, Elmer Says

Lullaby or Two, Serenades, and Little Else.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.
Radio's musical fountain flowed rather thinly last night.

Among the exceptions was a program of rare refinement by the Apollo male quartet and the Nelson instrumental trio, KYW, 7 to 8. There was a classical popular appeal tag attached to it, which of itself meant nothing because most programs are of this mixed order; but the singing and the playing and the pieces were everything, and this everything was considerable. The dials found nothing else on the air at the time comparable to it.

An orchestral broadcast entitled "Arabian Night's Entertainment," WGN-N, from New York, 3 to 10, was another admirable and enjoyable program, provided one kept in mind the title of the program; otherwise for purposes of this story, it became a sooth-singing lullaby and placed one unduly under a lullaby influence.

The indiscreet WLS instrumental trio, WLS, 9 to 10, presented a program made up of serenades. This was unexciting, and, likewise for purposes of this story, would tend to serenade one into slumberland.

The individual solo programs by the whitney trio, WMQ, $2.00, do not possess the unity of interest of their combined work as a trio group, as last night's efforts slipped by more or less uneventfully.

The program by the Arneson quartet, mixed voices, WLS, 9:40, had a quality of a rare excellence in the singing and in the selections, rather than quantity. Lacking in quantity, they may be hastily passed over on this occasion.

SANFORD B. DOLE, EX-PRESIDENT OF HAWAII, DIES

HONOLULU, June 9.—(AP)—Sanford B. Dole, president of the republic of Hawaii at the time of its annexation by the United States, died here today.

The annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States was due more to the individual efforts of Sanford Ballard Dole than to any other leader. He had been one of the outstanding figures in the islands during the latter years of their monarchical government and the decade following their annexation to the United States. He was the first and only president of the republic of Hawaii, whose existence from 1844 to 1900 is now all but forgotten.

Mr. Dole was born in Hawaii on April 23, 1844, the son of Daniel and Emily Ballard Dole, American missionaries. He was educated at Oahu college, Hawaii, and Williams college at Williams-town, Mass. He studied law at Boston and was admitted to the bar there. Returning to the islands he engaged in the practice of law at Honolulu, and entered politics as a member of the Hawaiian legislature.
